II COURSE OVERVIEW

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
This course will cover select topics at the forefront of inorganic chemistry

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:
To give the student a clear understanding of the frontier areas of inorganic chemistry.

PREREQUISITE COURSE:
The prerequisite for this course is addition to graduate school.

Supplemental:

III HOW THE COURSE IS ORGANIZED

The lectures materials will be on-line only in the fall of 2022 and be given by synchronous TEAMS meetings, Tuesday 2-4 pm, unless otherwise noted. Each professor will generate their own meeting links and post on the Quercus webpage.

COURSE SCHEDULE & RELEVANT SESSIONAL DATES:
Sept 13/20 DWS Frustrated Lewis Pairs
Sept 27/Oct 4 UF Transition metal Alkyls and Aryls: Mechanisms for C-C Coupling and C-Heteroatom Bond Formation
Oct 11/18  RHM  Bioorganometallic Chemistry
Oct 25/Nov 1 BK  EChem
NOV 7-12  reading week.
Nov 15/22  DS  Luminescent materials.  (NB: Time tba).
Nov 29/Dec 6 GO  Accelerated Materials Discovery at the Human-Machine Interface
Dec 9  Abstract for seminar due
Dec 12  Seminars (time TBA)
Dec 16  Final Exam (time TBA)

IV  EVALUATION/GRADING SCHEME

Abstract and Presentation
20 min, including 5 min. for questions, should be related to one of the subjects discussed in the lectures.
1 pg abstract and lead references due: Dec 9

FINAL ASSESSMENT
Questions will be provided from each section and student will be required to answer 3 of the 6 possible questions.

V  COURSE POLICIES

- I will make every effort to respond to email within 24 hrs on weekdays (Douglas.stephan@utoronto.ca).
- Office hours: I will be available M-F (1-5:30 pm); barring other commitments. Please use the link below to arrange a TEAMS meeting using the booking webpage: https://outlook.office365.com/owa/calendar/DouglasStephan@utoronto.onmicrosoft.com/bookings/

  The University of Toronto is committed to equity, human rights, and respect for diversity. All members of the learning environment in this course should strive to create an atmosphere of mutual respect where all members of our community can express themselves, engage with each other, and respect one another’s differences. U of T does not condone discrimination or harassment against any persons or communities.

- Privacy language and appropriate use of course materials: https://teaching.utoronto.ca/ed-tech/audio-video/sample-statements/

VI  TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS
Specific guidance from the U of T Vice-Provost, Students regarding student technology requirements is available here: https://www.viceprovoststudents.utoronto.ca/covid-19/tech-requirements-online-learning/

Advice for students more broadly regarding online learning is available here: https://onlinelearning.utoronto.ca/getting-ready-for-online/

This course requires the use of computers, and of course sometimes things can go wrong when using them. You are responsible for ensuring that you maintain regular backup copies of your files, use antivirus software (if using your own computer), and schedule enough time when completing an assignment to allow for delays due to technical difficulties. Computer-viruses, crashed hard drives, broken printers, lost or corrupted files, incompatible file formats, and similar mishaps are common issues when using technology, and are not acceptable grounds for a deadline extension.

VII INSTITUTIONAL POLICIES AND SUPPORT

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

On Academic Integrity:
Academic integrity is essential to the pursuit of learning and scholarship in a university, and to ensuring that a degree from the University of Toronto is a strong signal of each student’s individual academic achievement. As a result, the University treats cases of cheating and plagiarism very seriously. The University of Toronto's Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters (https://governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/secretariat/policies/code-behaviour-academic-matters-july-1-2019) outlines the behaviours that constitute academic dishonesty and the processes for addressing academic offences. Potential offences include, but are not limited to:

In papers and assignments:
1. Using someone else’s ideas or words without appropriate acknowledgement.
2. Submitting your own work in more than one course without the permission of the instructor.
3. Making up sources or facts.
4. Obtaining or providing unauthorized assistance on any assignment.

On tests and exams:
1. Using or possessing unauthorized aids.
2. Looking at someone else's answers during an exam or test.
3. Misrepresenting your identity.
In academic work:
1. Falsifying institutional documents or grades.
2. Falsifying or altering any documentation required by the University.

All suspected cases of academic dishonesty will be investigated following procedures outlined in the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters. If you have questions or concerns about what constitutes appropriate academic behaviour or appropriate research and citation methods, you are expected to seek out additional information on academic integrity from your instructor or from other institutional resources (see https://www.academicintegrity.utoronto.ca/).

Use of Turnitin
Note for instructor: Turnitin (https://teaching.utoronto.ca/ed-tech/teaching-technology/turnitin/) is a very highly recommended tool directly integrated into Quercus that will assist in detecting textual similarities between compared works. Students must be informed at the start of the course that the instructor will be using Turnitin. If you plan to use this tool, the course syllabus must include the following statement (as is):

"Normally, students will be required to submit their course essays to Turnitin.com for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University's use of the Turnitin.com service are described on the Turnitin.com web site".

COPYRIGHT
Course videos and materials belong to your instructor, the University, and/or other source depending on the specific facts of each situation and are protected by copyright. In this course, you are permitted to download session videos and materials for your own academic use, but you should not copy, share, or use them for any other purpose without the explicit permission of the instructor.

ACCESSIBILITY NEEDS
Students with diverse learning styles and needs are welcome in this course. The University of Toronto is committed to accessibility: if you require accommodations for a disability, or have any other accessibility concerns about the course, please contact Accessibility Services as soon as possible.
